WILL HOLD GERMANY TO PROMISE

France Will Uphold Rights to Have All Germany Pledged

Poincare In Stirring Speech Declares Population Has Been Reduced to Misery For Benefit of Wealthy Class and For This Reason Will Adhere to Policy—Reviews Situation.

(By The Associated Press) NEVERS, France, Nov. 1.—Premier Poincare, speaking today at the inauguration of a soldiers' memorial here, stated that Germany had been forced into a systematically organized bankruptcy and that certain classes of the population have been reduced to misery for the benefit of wealthy industrial and commercial leaders.

For this reason he deems it necessary, he said, to hold Germany's pledges until France is paid in full and pointed out the progress made in the Ruhr during French occupation toward a resumption of economic activity.

In conclusion he defined the scope of the inquiry of experts appointed by the reparations commission by stating that it must only deal with Germany's present capacity to pay.

"Let an examination be made to discover what Germany can pay this moment or during a short space of time," continued M. Poincare. "That is well. That is the very role of the reparations commission, enlightened by experts it can appoint, that the reparations commission determine what Germany can pay."

"What injustice what risk, if in a short time Germany should be freed from part of its debt and if in some years she should present herself before us resurrected, enriched, to humiliate us by a renewal of her power and crush us by her supremacy. We will not be taken in such a snare."

In his peroration, Premier Poincare declared that France's conduct was of the simplest and frankest nature possible without any hidden motive. France would not be ruined he said, in order to increase the shameful wealth of certain German magnates whose oligarchy still remained true to the German republic.

"We do not intend," continued the premier, "that the Reich shall harbor ideas of revenge and go even as far as America to conspire against French unity and protest against the League of Nations and Lorraine to the other country, nor that it reconstitute its military formations and armaments. That is all."

Dealing with the peace treaty the premier said the victors had in the course of going to the aid of the map of the world, resuscitated some nations and created others and had altered frontiers.

"France," he said, "neither receives nor asks any territorial advantage. She simply recovered what belonged to her—what had been stolen from her. But she was told 'Keep quiet, if you agree not to remain so long on the Rhine we will guarantee you against French troops.' 'Keep quiet, have no fear, you shall be indemnified for all the damage you have suffered.' She signed with confidence a treaty with which she was not very well satisfied but on which at least she counted as a minimum."

"Not many months passed before the finest stones of the edifice crumbled to dust. Our allies were the most keen in demanding the prosecution of the Kaiser and his accomplices but forgot their intentions and were astonished when we reminded them. Those who had insisted on a reduction of the duration of our occupation and who had offered us guarantees—guarantees which included the far from sufficient—withdrawal, some of them failing to ratify the treaty in the making of which they had collaborated, and others repeating that their offer was dependent upon the definite attitude of the victors."

GOV. WALTON GOES ON TRIAL

Is Arraigned for Corruption and Neglecting Duties

Opening Session Consumed By Legal Skirmishing and Trial Proper Will Not Begin Until Next Week.

(By The Associated Press) OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 1.—Governor Joseph Simmons, opponent of the Ku Klux Klan, conferred a life membership in the Klan upon Governor J. C. Walton, "in just recognition of your constant loyalty," according to a statement to Walton, dated September 10, 1923. Governor Walton declared in a statement issued today. The governor said he requested the certificate of membership be not mailed him as he was not in sympathy with Klan ideals.

Governor Walton reiterated that he had never applied for membership in the Ku Klux Klan, and that the statement of Imperial Wizard Evans at Atlanta, that he is a "Klansman at large," "I would rather be right and work in a ditch than to be the highest official of the invisible empire and dwell in the palace of the King," the governor declared.

(By The Associated Press) OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 1.—Governor J. C. Walton will be arraigned for trial before a Senate court of impeachment today on charges of corruption in office, moral turpitude, neglect of duty and general incompetence unless specific allegations are made in the impeachment indictment.

Preliminary legal skirmishing is expected to consume most of the opening session and indications are that the trial proper will not begin before the first of next week.

Counsel for the executive will apply for a continuance if the expected demurrer to the bill of impeachment is ruled, it is predicted, but such a move would mean a lengthy delay.

The governor has made no addition to previous statements that Ku Klux Klan members of the Lower House conspired to impeach him. It is assumed he will base his defense on the fact that he is a "Klansman at large" and that he is a "Klansman at large."

Rumors persist in political quarters that the governor will resign before the trial is well begun but are denied in official circles.

The Senate court before proceeding with the trial will give attention to charges of bribery against certain Senators in connection with Governor Walton's case.

The editor of Muskogee Times-Democrat has been summoned to explain a news article charging that two senators had been approached with $10,000 each by newspaper staff representatives here who also were asked to divulge the source of the alleged affidavit.

Governor Walton emerged victorious today in his challenge of the legality of a Statewide special election held on October 2, which passed constitutional amendment empowering the State legislature to meet on its own call to investigate State officials.

Judge Tom Chambers in district court here yesterday granted the executive application to make permanent a temporary injunction restraining the State election board from certifying returns from the election because the legislative proposal as well as the other amendments had not been given the required publication.

An appeal will be made to the State supreme court.

EXTERMINATOR IS READY FOR TURF AFTER LONG ILLNESS

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Exterminator, eight-year-old thoroughbred campaigner, which is expected to return to the races at Santa Anita later part of this month, has been idle since last spring when Willis Sharp Kilmer's veteran strained a tendon. The gelding is said to have completely recovered, however, and is ready to add to his record as the "iron horse" of turf history.

Exterminator, popularly known as "old bones," had collected winnings of $248,000 when he was put out of the running temporarily in 1921, within 1,400 of the America record at that time, held by Man O'War.

Mrs. Harry Thomas and Little Son, a pair of horses, were sold for $10,000 each at Santa Anita. Mrs. M. J. McNabb.

MONTH'S SALES EXPECTED TO BE 6,250,000 POUNDS

Total sales of tobacco for the month of October were not available at press time. It is noted that this is not a full week's sales but represents the amount sold for the five days up to and including the last day of October. The tobacco association here expected, however, that the sales for the first month of the marketing season in this city would show about six and a quarter million pounds disposed of.

The sales from last Thursday up to Wednesday night inclusive showed 2,107,543 pounds sold for $330,202.14 at an average price of $23.15 per hundred. It is noted that this is not a full week's sales but represents the amount sold for the five days up to and including the last day of October. The tobacco association here expected, however, that the sales for the first month of the marketing season in this city would show about six and a quarter million pounds disposed of.

Ten million marks in Germany today. Yet it isn't worth one lone copper of Uncle Sam's currency. In Germany, however, it buys a loaf of bread, five cigarettes or a box of matches. With the fall of the mark, the government is even cutting down the size of the paper it's printed on.

Blame Commanders for Disaster Off the Pacific Coast

Three Officers Held Entirely Responsible and Eight Others are Condemned For Bad Judgment and Faulty Navigation Resulting in Loss of Seven Ships and 23 Lives.

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Finding "complete" responsibility for loss of seven destroyers and 23 lives at Honda Point, California, September 8, on three officers attached to the destroyer Delphy, the findings of the naval board of inquiry on which a court-martial has been ordered, charge them with "culpable inefficiency in the performance of duty" eight other officers who commanded destroyers in the group which crashed on the rocks after miscalculation of position will face trial on charges of negligence.

The report of the board published today said it saw no "extenuating circumstances" in the case of the squadron commander Capt. Edward H. Watson, the commanding officer of the Delphy. Lieutenant Commander Donald T. Hunter and the navigating officer Lieutenant Lawrence F. Blodgett, to excuse them from accepting "full responsibility for the accident." It was held to be "directly attributable to bad judgment and faulty navigation" on their part.

For having "too blindly followed the judgment of the squadron commander" in failing to check the position of their individual ships, the commanders of the other destroyers, the court found, must be held responsible in a measure. Had correct judgment been displayed on their part, the report said, the equipment of each vessel could have been used to check their position against that ascertained for the Delphy.

The board highly commended the morale shown by the personnel of the destroyers in the emergency of the crash, declaring it was due to "this perfect discipline that the loss of life was so small." It cited more than a dozen officers and men whom it thought should be commended by Secretary Denby.

75 HURT IN TRAIN WRECK

(By The Associated Press) ORLANDO, Fla., Nov. 1.—More than 75 passengers were injured, four seriously, when Baltimore and Ohio passenger train No. 62, a local running from Clarksburg to Richmond, was derailed near here today. Two coaches crowded with passengers, jumped the tracks and rolled about 40 feet into a field, where they came to a stop, upside down. The injured were brought to a hotel here.

Salvation Army's Great Work Shown In Year's Report

The Salvation Army is one of the nine organizations which will be named during the coming year through the Community Chest, the annual appeal for support to which will be made next week. Interesting statistics given showing the work which has been done in a quiet way by the organization in Danville during the past year. The number of persons who heard the gospel preached at 164 indoor meetings was 4,370 while it is estimated that more than 17,000 persons attended the 219 outdoor meetings which were held on street corners.

Literature was given out to 21,000 persons during the year. The relief work done by the Salvation Army included 25,000 meals for the needy, 222,000 packages of clothing given to the needy, 1,556 and 87 persons were housed by the Army.

Another warm endorsement of the Community Chest was made public today this from Herbert Martin, president of the Kiwanis Club, who speaks of the Chest in the following way:

"After close study of the situation, I am convinced that the Community Chest furnishes the only feasible means by which the financial needs of the several participating organizations may be met with the least expenditure of time and effort. The budgets of these various agencies are carefully scrutinized by a board of directors, some of the best business men of the city, and each organization is required to prove its case before its budget is accepted. Whenever consider the enormous saving in time and effort, the Community Chest is a good thing and we are willing to support it in the approaching campaign."

Battle Practice Of the Maryland Affords Some Spectacular Sights

(By The Associated Press) ABROAD THIS: S. MARYLAND, OFF SAN PEDRO, California, Nov. 1.—A new chapter in the history of naval gunnery was written on floating targets by projectiles from the super-dreadnought Maryland's 16 inch rifles, fired yesterday for the first time in actual battle practice.

Gunnery of the Maryland celebrated the initial firing of the big rifles by hurling a 2,000 pound projectile straight through the hull's eye of the distant target, the second shot splitting the target squarely in middle.

TRAIN PLUNGES OVER TRESTLE, 3 MEN KILLED

Chicago Will Not Be Scene Of the G.O.P. Convention

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Chairman Adams, of the Republican National Committee declared today that Chicago "has no chance" of being selected for the 1924 Republican National Convention unless assurances are given that hotel rates will be more reasonable than in the past.

Until recently it had been accepted as almost a foregone conclusion that the convention would go to Chicago. Recent negotiations between National Committee officials and Chicago Hotel men, however, are understood to have not yielded the results hoped for.

Chairman Adams said that all four cities—Chicago, Cleveland, Denver and San Francisco—had indicated to the national committee that they would bid for the convention.

"Either Cleveland or Denver, in my opinion, has a chance," he added. "Chicago has no chance of getting the convention unless it can assure that hotel rates charged delegates will be more reasonable than they were in 1920 and 1916."

Stresemann Is Ill; Cabinet Session Delayed

(By The Associated Press) BERLIN, Nov. 1.—Chancellor Stresemann was prevented by illness from presiding over the cabinet session this morning when the socialist party's ultimatum was to be considered. It was considered probable that the government's reply to the party's demands would not be forthcoming today.

The socialist demands were formulated at a caucus yesterday which adopted a resolution declaring the party could remain in the coalition government only on the conditions of emergency treatment by the central government of the Bavarian government's attitude as a breach of the constitution and the immediate taking of the necessary steps against Bavaria, moving over to the police the maintenance of law and order in Saxony and the dismissal of the supporters of nationalist aspirations who recently joined the Reichswehr.

Another resolution passed by the party leaders demand in their conference and that the farmers be forced to sell their produce at a fixed price.

TWO

FINALLY CAUGHT

A wild chase to save one-half gallon of liquor finally landed Otto Jarrett and Paul Yeats in jail yesterday afternoon, where they are being held on charges of transporting liquor and speeding.

Sergeant Haraway and Officers Cook and Towell were out on an expedition in fact were looking for another car load of liquor on Colquhoun street when the suspicious actions of Jarrett and Yeats in a Ford roadster attracted their attention. The two would not stop when hailed by the officers. This led to a chase, which grew more and more accelerated until the corner of Whitcomb and Lynn streets was reached, when the Ford roadster was cut around the corner too wide and ran into a water plug, breaking the plug off short with the ground and damaging the Ford and halting the chase.

The two men were taken to jail and will be given a hearing this morning. Their car has been confiscated.

An eminent physician has shown why there is so much useless suffering on the part of many expectant mothers, for months before baby comes, as well as when baby actually arrives.

This same great doctor found the way to avoid much of this suffering. Mother, your baby's nerves, its whole structure should be free from any influence caused by your months of useless misery and pain. You yourself can be free from much of it. Here is a little message to all expectant mothers:

Mrs. Ida Milton 106 N. Tenth St., Keokuk, Ia., says: "I was suffering from a very painful and distressing condition of the bowels for several months before my baby came. I was told to use 'Mother's Friend' and I did so. I feel like a new woman now and my baby is healthy and happy."

Chamber Approves
Merger Project
With Y. M. B. C.

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday received and adopted a report of the executive committee approving the merger of the Young Men's Business Club with the Chamber. This plan of merger of the two organizations is based on consolidation must go before the directors of the membership of the Y. M. B. C. and if approved, the Chamber of Commerce will be augmented by at least one hundred additional members representing the cream of the younger organization.

The basis of the proposed merger whereby the Young Men's Business Club will cease its existence as a separate entity is embraced in these two sections of a resolution presented and approved yesterday by the chamber directors:

1. That the Young Men's Business Club obligate and bind themselves to secure at least 30 per cent. of their membership as members of the Chamber of Commerce, that in securing the members, a member of their organization who is already a member of the Chamber of Commerce is not to be considered as a new member, unless they consent to increase their dues to the Chamber of Commerce by the amount they are paying at present to the Young Men's Business Club.

2. That they turn over to the Chamber of Commerce all their assets in the way of furniture and fixtures, the Chamber of Commerce, on their part agreeing to assume the liabilities of the Young Men's Business Club not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000), provided conditions outlined above and designated as Sections 1 and 2 be complied with.

It was also agreed by the Chamber representatives that in event of the merger the Chamber of Commerce would unite with the Young Men's Business Club in sending out a letter to the membership of the latter organization requesting them to become members of the Chamber of Commerce.

The outcome of the merger movement is doubtful, despite the fact that the younger body is without a secretary, acknowledges itself in debt, with membership dues aggregating about $1,500 which representatives of the club admit are not collectible. In event of the merger, it is estimated that an increment of 100 new members by the chamber would about reimburse that body for the contribution of the Y. M. B. C. debt of approximately $1,000.

Director A. D. Starling, acting in formally, took time by the forelock and nominated James T. Catlett, Jr., as the next president of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Catlett is already a member of both organizations and a director of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Starling's nomination was promptly seconded.

The effort to effect a consolidation of the Y. M. B. C. with the Chamber of Commerce was inaugurated by the Rotary Club.

David E. Graham, Jr., president of the Young Men's Business Club was communicated with this morning and asked for an expression of his views on the counter proposal made by the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Graham said that he had already a member of both organizations and a director of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Starling's nomination was promptly seconded.

While the Halloween maskers and revelers were indulging in the relaxation of the carnival occasion last night and ere October passed with the tolling of the midnight bells, a wind blew out of the west or northwest chilling the gay throng and terminating the fun earlier than would have been the case had the milder temperature continued.

After sunset the air took on a perceptible chill which was intensified as the evening hours passed. The stiff and penetrating breeze—it could hardly be called a wind, at first—began to cause discomfort to many who had not abandoned summer garb. The falling temperature soon began to tell on the thermometer reading; the mercury gradually sinking in its tube until before midnight the register was 40 degrees.

Indications were that front would not develop during the night, unless the wind and that today the temperature would be somewhat lower than yesterday, but without the cutting breeze which contributed some discomfort last night. Many persons who had blossoming flowers exposed took the trouble to cover these last night. The weather bureau in its forecast at 10 p. m., predicted fair and warmer weather for today, thus indicating that last night's change was not a lasting development of chilling temperatures.

A box party will be given at the home of Mrs. E. B. Fitzgerald Saturday evening, November 3, at 7:30 p. m. A large crowd is expected to be present.

Mrs. W. T. Wooding and daughter, Mrs. S. Mendenhall, have been the house guests of Mrs. E. B. Fitzgerald for some days.

Mr. and Mrs. Crews Wooding of Danville, Va., motored to Gretna Sunday and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Fitzgerald.

Miss Morgan, one of the Gretna High school teachers, spent the week end with home-folks in Altavista.

Mrs. J. T. Moon was recently called to Roanoke to see her father E. P. Oakes who is ill.

Mrs. N. V. Vanderhulst returned to Gretna Sunday from a two weeks stay with her sister, Mrs. Glass of Petersburg.

Miss Annie Baskin, Ida Yeatts, and Miss Gowan of Lynchburg were recent guests of Mrs. G. M. Hines.

LOOK TO THE MEN FOR YOUR
NEW MODE IN NIGHT ATTIRE

By MARIAN HALE
NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—You may be up to the minute in style when you dress up and go out in your finest finery. But you're still far behind the times if you go to bed in anything but a suit of pajamas.

Thus has Dame Fashion decreed. And to execute her dictates, designers have come forth with all sorts and varieties of this masculine attire for women. They have shown what can be done for women out of the ideas suggested by men's pajamas.

Manufacturers of nightgowns and of petticoats may wonder sadly upon the future of their creations. For the latest 1923 edition of the pajama is not merely a sleeping garment, but is used for lounging and any time when a negligee is permissible.

Many Types

They are made with a slipper blouse and are sleeveless, or nearly so. Pongee, bound in color and embroidered with yarn, makes the most practical and durable type, as well as the heavier wicker silk and satin, and the printed crepes. These come in rich colors and combinations of color and may be trimmed or untrimmed as one prefers.

Then there is the very fluffy type, made of delicate pink, blue, or lavender crepe or satin, trimmed with the lace and French flowers and ribbons, and all the attractive decorations of the most feminine of lingerie.

But the most popular type of all consists of a pair of black satin or satin-backed crepe, with a jacket of red, green, or any bright colored silk, with a picot edge about the neck and sleeves.

Or the jacket may be of brocade or satin, bound with ribbon. With this arrangement, it is possible to have two or three jackets with the same pair of dark trousers.

Embroidered, Too
One fashionable house is showing jackets of black and white, with a foundation of white or pink, with a little exquisite hand embroidery thrown in for good measure, and a dash of chiffon with long floating ends.

Other luxurious models are made entirely of white or pink and forgettable with very wide satin girdles.

Though these suits range from one to three figures in price, there is con-

A SIMPLE, YET ATTRACTIVE, PAJAMA SUIT.

The Virginia dark markets, says the review, will not open until next month.

The crop in North Carolina, authorities in that state report, is not as good as had been expected; auction warehouses sold 30,244,945 pounds of tobacco for growers during September, at an average price of $18.95 per hundred pounds, according to the bank's review. In the same month last year 46,246,946 pounds at an average of $25.15 were sold. The crop is expected to total 347,000,000 pounds.

The tobacco season in South Carolina, where the crop has nearly all been harvested, is said to have been very successful, the yield being large, prices good and quality satisfactory. The forecast on October 1 of the estimated yield in West Virginia was somewhat reduced from the estimate made on September 1, the latest figures being 7,371,000 as compared with 7,229,000 a month earlier and 7,425,000 pounds produced last year.

TOBACCO HOLDING LARGE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Leaf tobacco held by manufacturers and dealers on October 1, aggregated 1,662,225,132 pounds, compared with 1,457,439,314 a year ago and 1,697,445 on July 1 last, year, the Census Bureau announced today.

Cheating, smoking, snuff and export types totalled 1,086,985,464 pounds compared with 993,398,177 a year ago and 1,196,445,884 on July 1 this year.

Cigar types totalled 395,458,788 pounds compared with 382,585,968 a year ago and 425,000,271 on July 1 this year.

Imported types totalled 51,750,800 pounds, compared with 51,455,775 a year ago and 76,398,299 on July 1 this year.

MAXWELL SPEAKS AT TOBACCO SHOW

WILSON, Oct. 31.—A. J. Maxwell, of the Corporation Commission, made a favorable impression upon the great number of people who heard his speech which was delivered at the Tobacco Show at the Wilson Hotel in Elm St.

"The State's finances," said Mr. Maxwell, "is the greatest problem we have to consider today. Of course, there are times when a nation, a State, a county or an individual cannot help getting into debt. There are certain emergencies which arise, and over which no one has any control. But when a man or a State or a county begins to live regularly beyond its or his income, only one thing can follow, and you know what this is."

"They say that I have done harm to the Democratic party in the State as the result of the position I have taken. No harm is ever done when a mistake has been made and an honest and conscientious effort is made to correct it. We all make mistakes. The only harm that is done is when we fail to realize these mistakes and refuse to make cor-

reactions. "The Democratic party has always recognized as a fundamental principle of sound government that it must not spend, for running expenses, more than the income and it will continue to live by that faith, and to give to the people of the State a progressive government following the highest ideals of public service, and within the income derived from reasonable tax laws."

"Have you any doubt that a large part of the prosperity and development that has come to this State in a large part due to the character of government that we have had, and is it not worth the while of the citizenship of the State to give the time and thought to questions and policies of government that may be necessary to maintain a government that is no less responsive to the highest ideals of public welfare?"

Mr. Maxwell concluded his speech with a brief reference to the great men of Wilson county who continued their life services to the affairs of the State.

SALES LIGHTER.

The heavy sales of Tuesday—the buyers barely succeeding in disposing of the offerings—were followed by lighter receipts yesterday. No marked change in prices is noted other than a slight depreciation on some of the better grades which was reported yesterday. Auction men are of the opinion that the restraining order issued on Tuesday will have a beneficial effect on the open market since sales can continue without the prospect without the prospect of litigation.

Hallowe'en Was Celebrated Here
By Large Crowds

Hallowe'en-All Saints Eve—the traditional night of spookery was celebrated by thronging crowds gathered at the bridge from Ridge street to the bridge. People of all ages dressed in every conceivable costume devised paraded back and forth on sidewalks and overflowed into the street. Noise making and noisy games were played, and the shattering contribution to the ether cracking vibrations. The five and ten cent stores had a phenomenal run on their noise producing wares. Other and more domestic implements of noise making were pressed into service for the occasion. Even the bucolic cowbell delivered its note to the general fust.

Automobile horns spiked down their klaxons as the traffic jammed and forth on the principal thoroughfare.

Hilarious parties of high school flappers and their sweeties costumed in keeping with the spirit of the revely paraded up and down for the amusement of all who came to see the show. Many pretty young women dressed in every conceivable costume devised paraded back and forth among the masqueraders and no unpleasant titbits appeared to mar the fun. A dusky strutting drum major sporting an admiral's uniform swaggered his way up and down the parade. Regiments of circus clowns played their pranks and kidded the girls. Tups up from below in their sooty outfits cast their weird spells around and about. Only the morning will reveal all the doings of the dark hours of spirits let loose for the night.

Fun was had. It was a wild night.

Important To All Women
Readers of This Paper

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.

But remember, women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Robertsons Are Given Tokens Of
Love By Members

The last Wednesday evening service at Mount Vernon church under the pastorate of Rev. J. Calloway Robertson was marked by an unusual happy and interesting feature in the nature of a handsome and substantial appreciation of the pastor and his charming wife on the part of the congregation. So carefully had the plan for providing this farewell gift and tribute to the pastor and his wife been guarded that they were literally taken entirely by surprise, a condition which intensified the interest of all and made the expression the more unrecalled by the surprised recipients.

No advertisement had been made of any special feature or added attraction following the usual song and prayer service for mid-week, but it was known to be the farewell meeting under Mr. Robertson's pastorate and as was to be expected an unusually large attendance of members were in the lecture-room and the service itself was devoted to and in the nature of its earnestness. At the proper time, Harry R. Fitzgerald, member of the Board of Stewards, arose and in his earnest and fluent speech addressed Mr. and Mrs. Robertson and in turn presented them gifts on the part of the congregation—a liberal purse of gold for Mr. Robertson, and a handsome gold wrist-watch for Mrs. Robertson. In making the presentations, Mr. Fitzgerald paid a handsome and appreciative tribute to the pastor and to his always helpful co-worker, inspiration and associate, Mrs. Robertson.

Mr. Robertson visibly touched not alone by the handsome gift, but by the far more valuable spirit and impulse that prompted the generous and substantial expression of esteem, affection and good wishes from the part of those he had served and with whom he had labored in the work of the church and congregation for four years, could with difficulty express his feelings, but his emotion testified even more eloquently than the spoken words how deeply he was touched and how genuine and profound was his appreciation.

Mrs. Robertson, whose sweet and cultured singing voice has been a often heard with pleasure by the congregation and by this community, made her own response to the presentation of the beautiful gift conferred upon her and made a beautiful and stirring acknowledgment. Her hearers were charmed by her happy expression.

Altogether the presentation was a climax of many pleasing testimonies of the loyalty and love of the membership for both pastor and wife.

Lloyd George Ends 6,000-Mile Tour of the United States

Speeches Tonight and Tomorrow in New York Will End Engagements—Will Sail For England Saturday.

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—David Lloyd George, Britain's war-time premier, has ended his 6,000 mile tour of the United States and Canada. He arrived in New York last night, went to the home of John W. Davis, former ambassador to the court of St. James, in Locust Valley, Long Island, and made final preparations for his departure. The first will be delivered at the Lotus Club tonight and the second at the Metropolitan Opera House tomorrow night.

Mr. Lloyd George, although free from any public engagements until tonight, will not rest today. He planned to pass the morning attending to personal affairs and later, if he could spare the time, to visit the grave of Theodore Roosevelt at Oyster Bay and call on Mrs. Roosevelt at her home there. He expressed his desire to take this trip on the Hudson river, but said he could not decide definitely whether he could go. The arrival of the former premier last night was without incident. There was a small crowd of admirers in the Hoboken Station of the Lackawanna Railroad, where his special train arrived a few minutes before 8 o'clock. Elaborate police arrangements had been made and the station was closely guarded. It was denied, however, that this precaution was taken because of threatening letters Mr. Lloyd George was said to have received, presumably from Irish republic sympathizers.

The only demonstration was a friendly one. The crowd cheered as Mr. Lloyd George stepped into the waiting room, walked to an automobile and was taken to a special ferry boat. As the craft crossed the Hudson river, Mr. Lloyd George and his daughter, Miss Megan, walked to the bow and stood and watched the towering skyscrapers of Manhattan.

As the boat reached Manhattan, ten policemen on sputtering motorcycles opened their exhausts and whirled away across town with the cars in their wake. A small group was assembled at Queensboro Bridge, where they crossed over onto Long Island and a cheer went up as the cars whizzed past. All along the route were many policemen.

I had become so frail and delicate that for several months I could not be about. My back and head bothered me a great deal. I also had heat flashes and dizzy spells. I did not get much relief or help until I started taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it was this medicine that put me on my feet and gave me the health I have today."

TOWN TOPICS

Some of the witches who were abroad last night left their broomsticks behind them in their departure for home. Quite a number of these frizzled household articles were found on the streets this morning. Some of the frank players caused momentary dismay to automobile owners by rolling their cars into near-by lots. On Stokes street this morning daylight found one portable porch rocker neatly suspended on a lead sheathed cable midway between two poles and about twenty feet from the ground.

Although next Tuesday is election day and consequently a state holiday, the Danville banks have decided not to observe it. On account of Tuesday being a heavy sales day on the Danville tobacco market the local institutions have decided to remain open in order to give service to those farmers who will be in town receiving checks for their tobacco. But for appreciation of the local situation by the banks the tobacco growers would be sadly unconvinced.

More than 4,200 barrels of apples are in cold storage in Danville for the winter with the prospect of more arriving before the shipping season is over. These apples—Winesaps and Imperials, some of them from the Valley of Virginia and others from Patrick and the Roanoke section, are sent to be kept throughout the winter and are in the storage of the Danville Ice Company in the Southside plant. The apples are kept at a temperature of 32 degrees during their stay in Danville. In March they will have been shipped away as the ice company reports. The apples are kept in blocks of 500 to be disposed of during the summer months.

City school children who have been attending the graded schools in the morning are changing over today and are entering upon the afternoon period, those who have been attending the morning school are changing over to the afternoon school. The school congestion is responsible for this condition and, as last year, the school buildings are being used throughout the day with one group beginning school at 8:30 and continuing until 12 and the other group beginning at 1:30 and being dismissed at half past three. The change is being made in order to be fair to all children so that they may equally share the morning period of tuition which some believe is the best period of study for the child. Last school session the change was made once a month but this year the superintendent of schools believes it wisest to make the change once each term. Children starting school in the afternoon today will probably continue these hours for the next ten weeks.

Rutherford Harvie, secretary to the superintendent of schools is today preparing the payroll for the teachers which will be submitted to the chairman of the school board for approval on Saturday. The payroll will approximate $12,000 for the month. Three weekly meetings of the city school teachers will be held on Saturday morning in the office of Superintendent W. C. Griggs. These meetings are proving beneficial to the teachers since it affords an opportunity to discuss problems in school work.

A Teachers' Reading course is being conducted and books of value to teachers in their work have been suggested by the State Department of Education. No Saturday three of these books will be presented by Mr. Charles Anthony of the English Department in the High School, "Every Teacher's Problem," by Stark will be reviewed by Principal S. V. Hall of the High School and "Social Life and Its Problems," by Dow will be presented by the superintendent. These books will be taken up and studied by the teachers during the coming months.

The lowest point reached by the mercury this fall was registered today when the first killing frost of the season was recorded. The government thermometer maintained by H. M. Watkins on his home near the city registered 35 degrees. The frost was virtually no damage but "bit" late flowers and tomato vines. Ice was reported at some rural points.

The city charter commission will meet at 7:45 o'clock tonight for further consideration of amendments to the charter. It is believed that tonight all of the suggested changes from the people have been filed and while the meeting is not called specifically to act on the proposed amendments, it would not be surprising if votes were cast on some of the major proposals.

The body of Joe M. Morgan who killed himself in the city jail a few nights ago, was sent on train No. 29 last night to Asheville, N. C., for burial. Mrs. Morgan who has been under a severe strain since her husband's death felt unequal to the journey and has returned to her home in Spray. Sisters of Morgan will meet the body and will make arrangements for interment.

Palmer V. Boyd formerly of South Boston but for the past three years in Wheeling, West Va., came back to Danville on a visit today and will remain for the night in the Danville Hotel. Mr. Boyd, it will be recalled, served with the third division overseas with a medical detachment and spent three months in prison camps. He wrote an interesting book about his experiences, the edition running into the thousands. Although he is still suffering from the effects of gas he has largely overcome his physical disability. He said this morning that he owed his re-establishment to the Veterans' Bureau, which gave him two years training in tree surgery and landscape gardening in which business he is now engaged.

corroborated yesterday by Dr. Henry M. Fontana, formerly technician and laboratory expert at Charity hospital here.

Attorney General Coco said the question of how long the bodies had been in the water never was considered by the state during the open hearing at Easton last January. "Our object was to establish the fact that the two missing men were dead and that they had been found in the Morehouse Parish Ku Klux Klan and other charges with misdemeanor in connection with hooded band activities in the Parish, which is scheduled to begin next Monday at Easton. The cases will be called at Easton and will range from charges of assault and battery to murder claims involving long prison terms."

(By The Associated Press) NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 1.—Attorney General Coco today reiterated his statement that the declaration of the two pathologists who performed autopsies on the two bodies found in a Morehouse Parish lake last December and identified as those of W. D. Daniel and T. F. Richard, had not been in the water more than 48 hours when found and had no bearing on the state's case one way or the other. Daniel and Richard were kidnapped by masked men on August 24, 1922, near Easton. No trace of them was found until two mutilated bodies were taken from Lake La Fourche four months later and identified as those of the missing men. Dr. Charles W. Duval and Dr. J. A. Landford, pathologists, who examined the bodies, declared in a story published yesterday in a New Orleans morning newspaper that the bodies could not have been in the water longer than 48 hours. This statement of the pathologists was

A C. Conway returned yesterday from the Deep River Coal Field in Chatham County, N. C., where a local company has been organized for the purpose of digging coal. Charles Gunter, who recently left Danville to take charge of the coal mine expects that mining operations will be in progress by November 15th. The shaft has been sunk 100 feet and an engine is being installed to draw the coal bearing cars up the runway. About 150 tons of surface coal has already been mined. As progress has been made down the shaft, Mr. Conway reports, the coal seam has broadened and it is now over four feet thick. The coal mined is of the Pocahontas type, it is said.

The advent of cold weather is giving an opportunity to test the large boilers in the basement of the Masonic Temple through which is secured for the entire building. The heating apparatus is responding in every way to the demand made on it the daily consumption of coal being two and a half tons.

Revival Services are now in progress at Sted Memorial church conducted by Rev. J. M. Rustin, of the South Georgia Conference. A special service for children will be held Friday at 4 p. m.

FULL STRENGTH AT ROWING MEET OLYMPIC GAMES

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—America probably will not be able to muster its full strength for the Olympic rowing championships at Paris next year as a result of the French Olympic committee's refusal to accept the American Olympic committee's request for a postponement of several weeks.

The original date set for rowing, July 10 to 14, seven weeks earlier than these events were held in the 1920 Olympics, coincided with the important rowing fixtures in this country, out of which it was expected material would be drawn for international competition. These included the inter-collegiate regatta to be held the latter part of June, while the national regatta usually is held in August.

In addition, Jack Kelly, of Philadelphia, who won the single sculls title, and his partner, Paul Costello, have declared they probably would not be prepared to defend their laurels on the dates fixed.

RUTH IN VAUDEVILLE

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 27.—Ebbe Ruth, home run star of the majors, is going on the stage again. The Yankee star signed a contract this week to appear in vaudeville. Ruth's last adventure in theater was not highly successful. As a singer he was a fierce flop. The Babe promises to do better this time.

Treatment Given Disabled Vets Now Before Committee

Will Probe Various Charges Of Alleged Ill Treatment; More Evidence Of Wild Extravagance In Expenditures On Hospital Shown.

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Ewing La Follette, of Pittsburgh, former assistant, secretary of the treasury, was in Washington today to reply before the Senate investigating committee to charges that on the last day of the Wilson administration he rushed thru an agreement for government lease of the hospital plant at Excelsior Springs, Missouri, despite adverse recommendations from the medical and legal divisions of the Public Health Service. He came at his own invitation and the committee planned to hear him during the day. Turning aside from the inquiry into the purchase of the hospital site at Livermore, California, which occupied it all of yesterday, the committee had before it today the treatment given disabled veterans and the adjustment of claims of veterans. Dr. L. B. Rogers, assistant director of the medical division of the Veterans' Bureau and Charles C. Mulhearn were called as witnesses.

Inquiry into the Livermore hospital site purchase brought these developments:

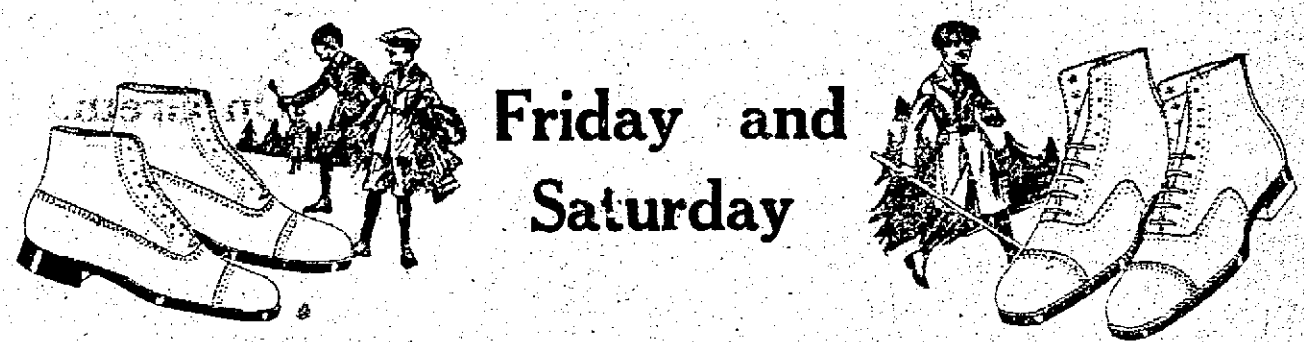

That Lucien B. Johnson, of San Francisco, purchased the site in Oct. 1920, for $19,957, sold it to the government in February, 1922, for $105,000 and after deducting selling expenses, costs of improvements and operations and depreciation charges made a net return of $186.53 to the government for taxation purposes.

That while Thomas O'Day, a San Francisco real estate dealer held an option on the property at $100,000 the late Charles F. Cramer, former general counsel for the Veterans' Bureau, urged upon Charles R. Forbes, then director, purchase of the site at $150,000 reporting that Mathew O'Brien, a San Francisco architect had obtained an option at that price. That Charles R. Forbes reported this to the treasury department and urged quick action so the deal might be closed before the option expired but subsequently this price and bought additional land not specified in the original offer to the government by O'Day.

That after Frank T. Hines, director of bureau, had testified that the bureau had rejected a claim of Mathew O'Brien for $33,000 additional fee plans for Livermore hospital he had learned that the comptroller general's office had paid O'Brien the full amount of the claim. This increased O'Brien's fees for unused plans to approximately $97,000.

FORMAL OPENING OF WEDNESDAY CLUB MARKS 30TH YEAR OF ORGANIZATION

The first fall meeting of the Wednesday Club was held yesterday afternoon in the new club house at the corner of Main and Holbrook Sts.

One of the notable social events of the season was the formal opening of the Wednesday Club, October 31, when a large number of the members and their guests were present.

The members of the social committee served an elegant buffet-luncheon in the club dining room at 1:30 p. m. The lower floor was decorated for the occasion with many handsome white and yellow chrysanthemums (the club colors), which harmonized well with the soft browns of the window draperies and furnishings.

In the dining room, where the same color-scheme was carried out, Mrs. Rucker Penn, chairman of the committee, was assisted in entertaining by the following members: Mesdames Henry C. Swanson, T. W. Edmunds, Henry Day, Raymond Hall, L. B. Miller, George I. V. George Ray, Bruce James, R. F. Bowen, Eugene Withers, J. Turner, Hamilton, George W. Robertson, Hunt Winbush, J. T. Watson, James T. Catlin, Jr., S. E. Hughes, Ashby, Walter, T. M. Maran, W. Tredway, Graves, M. S. Taylor, W. B. Lewis, L. C. Harrison, Sallie Johnson Penn, Charles D. Noel.

New President Takes Office.

The new year, which is in the hands of the members and have received much favorable comment for their artistic design and excellent workmanship. Mrs. A. Booth, Mrs. Fannie Howard and Mrs. A. D. Keen, of the calendar committee, also much credit for its excellent arrangement.

Under the four departments of activities, i. e., Current Events, History, Literature, Art and Music, a splendid series of programs has been prepared for the coming year.

On November 7th, under the direction of the History department, Mrs. Frank Talbott, chairman, a lecture will be given by Dr. William E. Dodd, of University of Chicago, the subject being "Robert E. Lee and the Crisis of the Confederacy." Arrangement has been made to have the lecture given in the auditorium of Averett College next Wednesday evening, 8:15 o'clock, so that the public, both men and women, may attend.

The first organization of the club in 1893 with twelve members was for the purpose of studying the literature and history of our own and other countries, and through all the intervening years this has been the guiding principle of its policy.

"The Life and Works of Carlyle" was chosen for one of the club's earliest programs and while perhaps not so varied as the program of the present day, it was the high aim toward which the standard has been set. There are now one hundred and twenty-five active members of the club, besides associate and honorary members.

The Wednesday Club is also a member of the general and state federation of women's clubs.

Officers of the club for 1923-24 are:

Mrs. John H. Schofield, Jr. president, Mrs. Lois N. Dabrell, vice president, Mrs. A. Berkeley Carrington, 2nd. vice president, Mrs. Archibald D. Keen, recording secretary, Mrs. Benjamin W. Booth corresponding secretary and Mrs. Harry R. Fitzgerald, treasurer.

Chairmen of Circles: Current Events, Mrs. Herbert M. Martin; History, Mrs. Frank Talbott; Literature, Mrs. George A. Watson; Art and Music, Miss Halie B. McMillan.

Miss Augusta Yates
Founder Wednesday Club in Danville

Miss Augusta Yates, founder of the Wednesday Club, and its first president, having served in that office for seven years 1893 to 1900, she helped to shape and guide the organization through its earliest years.

PHOTOGRAPH IS SENT 9,000 MILES BY RADIO

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Officials of the Radio Corporation of America said today that they had recently sent a photograph of Major General James G. Harbord through the air to Warsaw and back, a distance of 9,000 miles.

The transmission was made by means of an invention of E. T. W. Alexanderson, who says Alexanderson's publication of photographs of European events, a few hours after they happen is the making of possible "radio months."

He thinks that a secondary commercial value of the invention will be the compression of signatures.

The Radio Corporation is preparing for a public demonstration when speakers will be permitted to see a photograph translated first into electric waves and later into wireless impulses. These will be transmitted to the Warsaw station, where, 500 miles away and automatically retransmitted, returning a fraction of a second after being sent from here.

Every variation of light and shade on the original photograph is captured by the mechanism. Mr. Alexanderson says, and is converted into punctures of ticker tape which is drawn at high speed through the transmitting and receiving impulses are thus made to assume a pattern corresponding to that of the photographs.

The photograph of General Harbord is said to have been reproduced perfectly after the journey of the radio impulses to Warsaw and back.

(By The Associated Press.)
MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 31.—Julian Brain, Hartford, Conn., bond broker, was arrested here today on a charge of murder in connection with the shooting to death Sunday night of Raymond Lee, in Hillcrest Inn, a roadhouse near here.

He was placed in jail in another county and is being held incommunicado. His attorneys declined to comment on the case.

Sheriff Louis A. Allen, who made arrest, declined to reveal where Brain was being held. Brain's wife is in the hospital ward of the county jail here and appeared to be relieved when informed her husband had been arrested. She also is facing a charge of murder in connection with the case. John and Eddie Brain, brothers of Julian, are being held on charges of being accessories before the fact. Lee was shot to death as he entered the roadhouse Sunday night to investigate a disturbance in which his brother had become engaged with the Brain brothers. Julian Brain was not engaged in the brawl it was said and he entered the room from another door as Raymond Lee entered. Think door as Raymond Lee entered. Think door as Raymond Lee entered. An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters.

I expect, little Marquise, I was so completely engrossed in John and my wedding that I did not really look at Sydney Carton. I cannot convey to you my surprise at finding that he is perhaps the handsomest man I have ever seen. He looks at least five years older than Jack, although they were in the same class at college; consequently there cannot be more than a year or two difference in their ages.

Perhaps, however, it is because his hair is that beautiful steel gray that we sometimes see framing a young but most intellectual and aesthetic face. Great, sleepy, brown eyes that are habitually set close but which at times become transparent windows through which a mischievous laughing character shows itself—eyes that seem always to take you into their confidence.

I tell you I was very proud when I entered the restaurant with Sydney on one side of me and the striking Viking blondness of Jack looming up on the other. It may have been because I was so conscious of the fact that rarely had a woman entered that room with two such splendid specimens of masculinity that I seemed to feel a hush in the conversation and then a rapid buzzing which told me that we were the observed of all observers.

I was thankful that I was looking my best and had on one of my trousseaus. Sydney said that I was very seldom so. It was simplicity itself, a white hand-made frock which Boue Seurs only can make. I remember thinking at the time mother bought it for me of the patient stitches that some women must have put into its embroideries and tucks and in the sewing of its delicate laces.

I wore no jewels except my pearls—yes, little Marquise, I cannot call them beads anymore. They are pearls.

Sydney had ordered a table reserved and as we took our seats I noticed with surprise that the waiter who stood at John's chair to take our order was the same one who had waited on us the night I had broken and scattered my pearls about the floor. I don't think I should have thought about it or noticed it in any way if he had not bent upon me such a peculiar glance of cupidity and triumphant understanding that I could not repress a shudder. It was peculiar that both this waiter and Sydney were composed of my spasms of nervousness and John perfectly oblivious that I was in the slightest annoyed.

"Someone walking over your grave, Leslie," inquired Syd lightly.

"I don't think so," I answered, trying to make my voice as casual as his. "You know I am going to be cremated."

"Are you not pushing the mourners a little, Syd, when you begin immediately to talk of your own radiant life and beautiful as Leslie is tonight?" said Jack, looking me over carefully.

"I see you've had your beads re-stung," he remarked.

JOHNSTON'S FAIR FROM TOUGH, OLD RIVAL SAYS

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 31.—Bill Johnston, the diminutive tennis star who faltered badly in the national singles championship this year, is not "tough." This is the opinion of his greatest rival and conqueror, Bill Tilden. Johnston was merely overestimated.

"He wasn't in condition to play his real game in the championship. I expect him to come back stronger than ever next year." Johnston's championing in England and France last summer undoubtedly took something out of him.

RECOGNIZES FOUR POINTS OF REPARATION INQUIRY

(By The Associated Press.)

PARIS, Nov. 1.—Premier Poincare made a speech at Nevers today in which, as interpreted by the French foreign office, he recognized four points with the reservation of the committee of experts which is to make a reparation inquiry as a result of the recent negotiations of the European chancelleries and the Washington government. The premier by his recognition, it is held, excluded consideration of any other point. The four points indicated are:

First—Germany's present capacity for payment.

Second—New Methods of payment.

Third—The renovation of German finances.

Fourth—A new monetary system.

This program, the foreign office points out, is in line with that indicated in the American note to London. Premier Poincare, it is declared, considers that Germany's debt to the allies was fixed once for all and cannot be changed, any more than the total amount advanced by the United States to the allies during the war can be changed.

STILL CAPTURED NEAR LYNCHBURG

LYNCHBURG, Va., Oct. 31.—Capture last night of a 300 gallon copper still, seven miles from Lynchburg near Little Round Top mountain, disclosed one of the largest and best equipped moonshining outfits that have been seized in this part of the state.

State prohibition officers W. T. Gregory and V. O. Smith, federal officer A. A. May, and Constable S. C. Crizer conducted the raid which resulted in the finding, in addition to the still, of 700 gallons of mash, thirteen 300 gallon fermenters, a 300 gallon cooler, one 50 gallon tumbler, 10 gallons of liquor and sugar, mead, hops, etc., as well as the tents, bedding and other paraphernalia of the camp of men operating the still. Two men seen near the place are known and warrants have been issued for their arrest by Magistrate Robert G. Shelton, of Amherst county.

Large Moonshine Still Is Captured By Prohi Posse

A monster moonshine still was captured yesterday in Henry county by a band of prohibition officers led by Prohibition Inspector W. T. Shelton.

The still was of 500-gallon capacity and was still warm from a run of the previous night. Jack Snead, owner of the still and the land upon which it was captured, was arrested, taken before Magistrate John Shelton, Martinsville, and bonded in the sum of $500 for his appearance before the next grand jury of the circuit court.

No opposition was experienced by the prohibition posse as it made the raid. Two young lads were found loitering about the still, but the plant was not in operation.

In addition to the still was found ten large fermenters, 2,000 gallons of mash and 30 gallons of recently run liquor. The plant was destroyed and the liquor and mash was poured out.

Prohibition Inspector Shelton received information Tuesday that Snead was operating a still on his place near Basic, Henry county. Mr. Shelton then proceeded to round up a posse going to Chatham and Crossville and getting together the following men: J. W. Martin, J. E. Martin, O. L. Austin, T. C. Oakes, S. H. Boyd, W. A. Harvey, L. P. Mills, and J. E. Bowles.

The still was one of the largest ever captured in Henry county and it is said that it has been in operation nearly every night for several months, turning out several hundred gallons with every run.

Mr. Shelton said last night there were signs about the still of a big "jollification" on the night before the raid was made.

METCALF TO ADDRESS SHAKESPEARE CLUB

Under the auspices of the Shakespeare Study Club and in the lecture room of the Main Street Methodist church annex at 4 p. m. today, Professor J. C. Metcalf, of the chair of English language and literature at the University of Virginia will lecture on "The Modern Novel." Members of the club and a number of invited guests will enjoy the privilege of hearing this literary address by a scholar who has attained wide familiarity with the literature of the English tongue and is a linguist of extensive attainments.

Mr. Metcalf was formerly professor of English at Richmond college, now the University of Richmond, and his excellent and stimulating work promoting a thorough-going study of the languages and literature of Chaucer, Spenser, Shakespeare, Milton and their successors, resulted in his being offered the chair of English at the University of Virginia, where he has continued his excellent work.

The address or lecture this afternoon will be an informing one and will afford excellent guidance for the reading tastes of those who are less discriminating in their judgment as to what constitutes real or worth-while literature.

BATTLE OF DAVIS AND DAVIS LOOMS AS CAMPAIGN ISSUE

By HARRY B. HUNT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Firing one Davis by abolishing the title under which his job was held, and hiring another Davis to fill the same job under another title, promises to involve Secretary of Interior Hubert Work in an investigation which may become, in the west, one of the important issues on the 1924 campaign.

Shortly after his transfer to the Interior Department, Work "discharged" Arthur P. Davis, director of the Reclamation Service, who for 40 years had been a government employee, rising from a $720-a-year job as typographer to head of the Reclamation Service at $7,500. The explanation was that what the service needed was not an engineer and reclamation expert, but a "business man."

Then it was discovered Davis could not be let out on such grounds. His civil service status protected him in his job except on proof of incompetency or unfaithfulness, and no such grounds existed. Work finally solved the question by having the office of director abolished and the new office of "commissioner of reclamation" created.

To this "commissionership" he appointed former Governor David W. Davis, of Idaho, who admittedly was not a reclamation expert but who was said to be a competent "business man."

When friends of the former director protested at the procedure, a "fact finding commission" was appointed by Work to inquire into the needs of reclamation and the status of reclamation projects.

Hardly had work of this commission got under way when the directors of the Society of Civil Engineers filed a vigorous protest against the change from Director Arthur Davis to Commissioner David Davis changing that the whole maneuver was a subterfuge to put a competent engineer out and a politician in. Other protests stated that Commissioner Davis' record as a "business man" was chiefly notable for his having organized a bank that went broke.

Davis versus Davis seems certain to be the most interesting phase of the situation to be combed by the commission seeking facts. The method of Director Davis' dismissal and the manner of "Commissioner" Davis' elevation to office merely set the stage for the conflict of charge and countercharge that seem certain to force another inquiry by Congress itself.

While the fight goes on, Director Arthur Davis is acting technical adviser to the pecuniary arbitration committee hearing certain claims filed by firms have brought against the United States.

"A couple of years ago, every one, almost, around me was having the 'flu.' I got a cold and was feeling bad. I caught then I would take Black-Draught. I took a good big dose every nig, and I can't begin to tell just how much good it did me. I was able to get up and wait on others, and I gave my good fortune away due to the use of Black-Draught. I wouldn't be without it in my home, for it is the best medicine I have ever used."

By keeping your liver and stomach in good order, you stand in little danger of catching the serious illness that occasionally become epidemics, spreading through town and country.

Black-Draught is composed of medicinal roots and herbs finely powdered and carefully mixed in the right proportions to act naturally on the stomach and liver. It has been found to improve digestion, and to relieve constipation in a prompt, safe way.

NEGO CHARGED WITH ASSAULT WAS CAPTURED

METTER, Ga., Oct. 31.—Jim Easley, a negro charged with attacking a prominent woman here Sunday night, is captured by a sheriff's posse this morning and placed in the jail here.

Throughout the day a crowd of five hundred men have been about the jail at threats of lynching have brought from Sheriff J. H. Flynt the statement that he and his men will protect the prisoner.

According to the officers, the pistol which was made was found in Easley's possession. It is reported here that the prisoner has confessed. Crows of people are still congregated in the streets and the situation looks threatening.

There is a chance to get the negro out of Metter if he will be removed to some other prison, the officials say.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating. No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color. Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

statement about Good Roads and the Bond Issue prepared by some of the most prominent citizens and tax payers of Lynchburg, Virginia.

FACTS ABOUT GOOD ROADS and the PROPOSED BOND ISSUE.

To the Voters of Lynchburg and Campbell County:—

In our opinion, there has been no more important subject submitted to the voters of the State than the one which you will be called upon to decide in the referendum vote on the bond issue, at the election, November 6th. In the discussion of the question through and by the newspapers of the State, the facts and issues have become so beclouded and confused in many cases by irrelevant and inaccurate statements, that we, the undersigned, after a careful study of the facts, beg leave to submit for your careful consideration the following statement:—

If the bonds are authorized as the result of the referendum vote, the terms thereof—already fixed by the Legislature—provide that the total amount is to be $50,000,000 issued in annual instalments of $10,000,000 each, $8,000,000 annually to go to the construction of the highway system, as at present outlined, and $2,000,000 annually to county feeder roads connecting with the main highway arteries such improved county feeder roads to become a part of the State Highway System and to be maintained by the State.

The referendum law further provides that all or so much as may be necessary of the present two-cent gasoline tax and the one-mill property tax shall be set aside for paying interest and retiring this bond issue. According to all estimates of both the pay-as-you-go and the bond advocates, this will be ample to carry all charges and pay off the bonds within 25 years.

Under these provisions, you will see that the amount and terms of the bond issue are definitely prescribed, and, furthermore, that ample provision is made for paying the interest and retiring the bonds within a period of 25 years, without one cent of additional taxes being imposed therefor.

Under the most conservative estimate made by a committee of leading bankers of the State—as well as by the Good Roads Association—the amount available within 5 years from the gasoline tax and the one-mill property tax—plus the proceeds of the bond issue—will make available—including the amount to be expended on the county feeder roads—which become immediately a part of the State Highway System—$70,400,000.00. From which should be deducted interest on bonds for 5 years, of $4,500,000; and $1,000,000 annually for five years, as repayment of money advanced to the State under the Robertson Act; leaving for road construction within five years $60,900,000 derived from the gas tax, the mill property tax and the sale of the bonds.

If Federal aid is continued for five years and the Legislature continues present appropriations for administration expenses and convict labor on roads another $10,000,000 will be available within the five-year period; making a total for new road construction of $70,900,000. Mr. Shirley, the able Highway Commissioner, estimates that this amount will complete within five years 80 to 90 per cent, of the Highway System as at present defined, including major bridge construction.

The "Pay-as-you-go" advocates make the misleading claim that it is only a question of waiting about three years to secure the same results that would be gotten under the bond issue. This is misleading—as well as inaccurate. Using the identically same sources of revenue used in the preceding paragraphs exclusive of the bonds, and after paying back the same amount—$1,000,000 annually—on loans made the State under the Robertson Act—there will be available for road construction for the next five years something less than $5,000,000 annually or in other words $25,000,000 for the next five years, as against $70,900,000 under the bond plan. As a matter of fact, under the "pay-as-you-go" plan, you will only get 35 per cent. of the road construction you will get under the bond plan within the five-year period. Surely, this result does not and cannot meet the demands of the people for good roads.

The crux of the situation, as we see it, is that the State can complete practically all the main highways in the present system within five years and then proceed to retire the bonds out of the proceeds of the present tax on gas and property, without the risk of increasing taxes one penny. The plan provides that commencing with 1930 the bonds are to be retired from the proceeds mentioned above at an average annual rate of about $2,500,000; paying the last bonds in 1948, or at the end of 19 years from the time you commence paying them off.

A most conservative estimate of the revenue from the two-cent gas tax and the one-mill property tax, after providing the funds mentioned above for road construction for five years, and after paying all of the interest and all of the principal of the bonds, will leave available for new construction from 1930 to 1948 some $40,000,000, or an average of $2,000,000 per year. And if Federal aid is continued and the State continues its present appropriations for administration and for the convicts, an additional $40,000,000 or $2,000,000 per year will be available for road construction.

The Legislature has already provided the terms and provisions for paying the interest and retiring the bonds from the proceeds of the present taxation. The pay-as-you-go advocates give no guarantee that taxes will not be raised but under their plan you wait an indefinite term for good roads, paying the same tax; while under the bond plan you go ahead, get the benefits derived therefrom while you are paying your taxes and in return for such taxes.

With $10,000,000 provided under the bond plan for county feeder roads, the present one-cent gas tax for county roads can be repealed; making an average saving to the taxpayers of $1,250,000 annually from this source.

In addition, keep in mind that there are now in use in this State considerably more than 200,000 motor vehicles, representing an investment of about $200,000,000, which is increasing annually at the rate of about 10 per cent. A conservative estimate of the life of these cars is five years; which means at present an annual depreciation of 20 per cent. or $40,000,000. Good Roads, will in our opinion, extend the usable life of motor vehicles 25 per cent., or in other words, make an annual saving to the auto owners of the State—from this source alone—of, perhaps $10,000,000; which for five years will amount to $50,000,000, which is the entire amount of the proposed bond issue. In addition, there will be a large annual saving in gas consumption as between good roads and poor roads.

It should be borne in mind that the estimates of revenue from the gas tax by the Good Roads Association, as given herein are most conservative; being some $6,000,000 less than Auditor Moore's figures from the same source for the first seven years, and proportionately less thereafter. Federal aid after 1924 is dependent upon further appropriations by Congress. As most States are fast completing their highway systems, it is not reasonable to expect Federal aid beyond five years, which makes it desirable for Virginia to complete her highway system as nearly as possible within the five-year period.

Don't forget that Virginia has provided wisely, under law now in force, that the proceeds from the State Automobile License Taxes shall be applied entirely to the maintenance of the State Highway System. This insures permanent roads in good condition, at all times after the system is once completed and is a guarantee that the State will get the full benefit of the money spent from its bond issue and taxes for all time. The bond issue plan does not jeopardize but retains this maintenance provision.

The pay-as-you-go advocates are claiming in their estimates an excessive revenue from the gas tax, and some of them are advocating taking a large portion of the maintenance fund for primary road construction purposes. This would, in our opinion, be a fatal mistake, as it would be a foolish extravagance to spend money in building good roads without an ample and proper provision for their maintenance.

Virginia notoriously has the poorest roads of any State in the Union. From Lynchburg it is impossible to get across or out of the State, in any direction—north, south, east, or west—over decently passable roads, in the dry period; and after rains in the summer and for practically all of the winter the main highways are impassable for motor traffic.

Why should we be afraid of a bond issue safeguarded as completely as the one proposed? There is no large public improvement of any character that does not exist by reason of bond issues. Lynchburg people would still be drinking polluted James River water, were it not for a bond issue. Lynchburg would still be housing her children in unsanitary and dilapidated school buildings, were it not for a bond issue. Every large private industrial enterprise in this and every other city is the result of the use of borrowed capital, either in the shape of bonds or preferred stock.

LET'S HELP OUR STATE TAKE HER PROPER POSITION IN THE MATTER OF GOOD ROADS. We appeal to you to work and vote for the bond issue on November 6th.

Heavyweight Title Contenders Start Elimination Bouts

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Heavyweight title contenders will hold the center of ring interest here during the next few days.

Jack Renault, Canadian brawler and Floyd Johnson, young Iowa, tapered training today for the 19-round match tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden. It will be the first of series of elimination contests planned during the indoor season to develop another challenger for Jack Dempsey.

Harry Wills, negro contender, is preparing for a bout with Jack Thompson, Boston negro, at Newark, N. J., next Monday night. It will be Wills' second appearance in a campaign which he hopes will lead to a match with the reigning champion.

GOT THE BREAKS

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Hank Gowdy of the Glants and Ernie Johnson of the Yankees sure got a great break in getting into the world series. Boston tried to waive Gowdy out of the National League as did the White Sox. Johnson, the two New York clubs refused to waive. Johnson thereby profiting to the extent of better than $6,000 and Gowdy more than $4,000.

My Own Makes Good Impression

(By The Associated Press.)
CINCINNATI, Nov. 1.—Horsemen at Latonia were greatly impressed with My Own, Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson's raucy challenger for the three-year-old championship, which arrived yesterday to meet Zev, in Memorial and Kialto in the $50,000 championship stakes at the Milldale track on Saturday.

A curious crowd followed the horse from the unloading chute to the barn where four sturdy detectives took up their vigil to guard the thoroughbred and keep all intruders from approaching the stall.

Zev, when it arrives, will be quarantined in the same barn with the Grayson colt. The champion was expected to leave New York today and arrive at the Covington track tomorrow morning.

Bearing in mind that in Kentucky it is required that a horse be named through the entry box the day before the race is run, Sam Hildreth, trainer of Zev, last night wired Matt J. Winn, manager of the Kentucky Jockey Club, authorizing Mr. Winn to act as his agent to enter the champion colt in the Latonia championship on Saturday.

With In Memoriam and My Own on the ground, Rialto on the way and Zev coming tomorrow, a field of four horses are certain to receive one of the largest crowds that ever attended a race meeting at that track.

Preparations are being made by the Latonia manager to receive one of the largest crowds that ever attended a race meeting at that track.

Requests for reservations have poured in from all parts of the country.

Nothing so brilliant was expected on the California, the youngest American player in the tournament, as in the 1922 tournament he won but one match, defeating Hagelach. He won from Hoppe, 500 points to 230.

Cochran did not get started until the seventh inning when he made 95 points by masterful play astraddle the balk lines. He continued his brilliant game throughout the next four innings with runs of 80, 45, 65 and 146.

Cochran Matched To Meet German Champion Today

(By The Associated Press.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Welker Cochran, youthful Los Angeles cue expert, who last night provided the greatest surprise in the world's 18.2 balk line billiard tournament by defeating title holder Wm. F. Hoppe, is matched to meet Erich Hagelach, German champion, in the Hotel Pennsylvania this afternoon.

Jake Schaefer, of Chicago and Roger Conli, of France, also are matched for this afternoon and Hoppe will meet Edouard Hermans tonight.

Triple Plays Jinx Cleveland Club, Indians Figured In Four Killings

Triple plays in Majors during 1923 campaign:

American League.

June 1—Holloway, Rigney and Blue of Detroit against Cleveland.

Aug. 4—Galloway, Scheer and Hauser of Philadelphia against Detroit.

Aug. 22—Judge and Peckinpaugh of Washington against Cleveland.

Sept. 3—Schliebner and Gerber of St. Louis against Cleveland.

Sept. 14—George Padgett of Boston unassisted against Cleveland.

National League.

May 16—Frigg, Bottomley and Stock of St. Louis against Boston.

July 6—Mokan, Henline and Sand of Philadelphia against Pittsburgh.

July 19—Traynor, S. Adams and Grima of Pittsburgh against Boston.

Oct. 6—Ernest Padgett of Boston unassisted against Philadelphia.

When it comes to figuring in triple plays, the Cleveland club of the American League is entitled to the original brown derby. Triple plays and the Cleveland club are synonymous.

Last season five triple plays were made in the American League, four of these were pulled at the expense of the Cleveland club. Since Cleveland was nosed out of second place by a mere half game, some blame can be attached to the Indians' habit of hitting into triple play.

Two unassisted triple plays were made in the majors last season. Both of these plays were made by Boston clubs, the Red Sox putting one over on the Indians while the Braves turned the trick again in Philadelphia.

In all nine triple plays made in the majors, five in the American and four in the National.

In pulling unassisted triple plays, George Burns of the Red Sox and Ernest Padgett of the Braves, formerly shortstop of the Boston club in the Piedmont league, wounding fame. The baseball gods show that on only three other occasions has a player been able to fire the side unassisted.

Back in 1878 Paul Hest performed the feat in the National. It is a rather interesting fact that in the American League, the Cleveland players pulled the stunt Neal Ball, playing short for Cleveland in 1909, turned the trick against Boston. Second baseman Bill Wagsnans won fame and glory in the 1922 world series with Brooklyn.

All of which merely prove that when it comes to figuring in triple killings the Cleveland club is away out in front.

Deacons Prepare For Trinity Game

WAKE FOREST, N. C., Oct. 31.—Coach Garrity's Demon Deacons rested yesterday and today began practicing for the Trinity contest in Winston-Salem on Saturday week. The team came through its great game with Florida with only minor injuries and was in fine condition for the light work out today. The Trinity contest is the next one on the Baptist schedule. A game which has been under consideration with Furman has been definitely called off.

Florida papers are loud in their praise of the work that the Demon Deacons put across on the Alligators griddon. "The boys from North Carolina threw a scare into the shivering for a few minutes," declares one sport writer of the Everglade state. Seven thousand people from all parts of Florida were present to witness the contest. A number of Wake Forest alumni were in the lot and fairly hugged the team for its showing when the dust had cleared away.

Ellington generalized the team and forward passes were made the chief weapon of offense. Twenty-one sun-shine boys were tried and eight were completed for a total of 91 yards. Sport writers of Florida declared unequivocally that the pass work shown by the Baptists was far superior to that of the Alligators.

Captain Pegano, end, was the hero of the contest. Pegano was the player who recovered a fumble punt and raced for the Baptist touchdown. At another time he got away for half the length of the field and was on the three yard-line before he was tackled by a Gator. Greason was again in the limelight in the back-field.

ZEV PROVES HE IS FIT FOR RACE

(By The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Zev today demonstrated more than a workout for the $50,000 championship at Latonia next Saturday, when he will meet My Own in what may prove the deciding three-year old test of the year, by galloping to easy victory in the $5,000 Autumn championship stakes, feature event of the closing day's card at Empire City track.

The race, at a mile for all ages, was the most important of the week, a conqueror of Papyrus, which will be shipped tomorrow to Latonia, ridden by Earl Sande and carrying 126 pounds. Zev breezed under the wire in 1:49.5 five lengths ahead of Brigade, a stable mate. Harr Paps, Whiney's Tryster was third and Adkin, the only other starter, finished fourth after breaking away in the three-quarters of a mile before the race.

Zev was worked an extra furlong by Sale, finishing the mile and a eighth, 1:55 1-5.

Sande, who will ride Zev in the Latonia championship, left for Cincinnati tonight.

SECOND RACE CALLED OFF

(By The Associated Press.)

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 31.—The second race of the series of the Fisher men's Trophy was called off today for lack of wind with 16 miles still to go to the ash line, but the American champion, Columbia, cheered by supporters by demonstrating their ability in light ra. In the first race, Monday, light breezes prevailed, supposedly Columbia weather, yet the big defender, H. Xee, of Lunenburg, famed for her rough weather performances, swayed the Gloucester schooner he and defend her more than a furlong over the mile course. The conditions were changed. With her a breeze about eight knots an hour, the challenge, ghosted along over more than half the course in the lead of the champion, sometimes as much as half a mile ahead.

With only an hour of the allotted six left, not much more than half of the course had been covered, and 1 miles was left to the test.

The committee decided to call the contest off and wait for better sailing conditions.

Says Allenrhu Surely Conquers Rheumatism

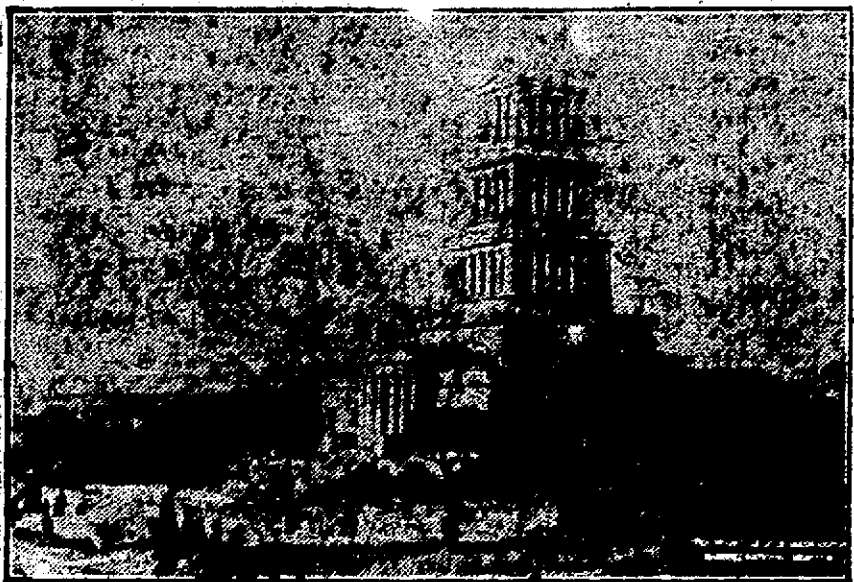

Winchester, Ky., Citizen Cheerfully Recommends This Wonderful Remedy to All Sufferers.

His letter follows: "Burns Avenue, Winchester, Ky. I had severe rheumatism for three months; tried several remedies without receiving any benefit whatever. A friend advised me to try ALLENRHU as it had cured him. I bought three bottles from the George Drug Co., this city. When I began taking this medicine I was unable to do any work. I could neither dress myself nor raise my hand to comb my hair. I am now almost well and feel confident this last of the three bottles I am now taking will completely cure me. I can cheerfully recommend this truly wonderful remedy to any rheumatic sufferer." Signed ASA E. Keer.

ALLENRHU has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiable and where the patient was helpless.

Erection of Masonic National Temple to Washington Started

GEORGE WASHINGTON MASONIC MEMORIAL

(By The Associated Press.)
ALEXANDRIA, Va., Nov. 1.—The cornerstone of a four million dollar Masonic temple, a national Masonic memorial to George Washington and a shrine for American Freemasonry was laid here today with impressive ceremonies. President Coolidge, members of the cabinet, a large array of official personages and representatives of 17,000 blue lodges and other Masonic organizations participated. The temple which is Greek in its architecture will be known as the George Washington National Masonic Memorial.

The building will rise 200 feet above Shooter's Hill, on the outskirts of this city, which Thomas Jefferson and James Madison proposed for the site of the capital of the United States. It will resemble and was inspired by the great towers of ancient Greece and Rome from whose summits permanent burning flares guided mariners at sea and, in the words of W. W. Corbett, one of its architects, "will represent to the world the guiding spirit of Washington in statesmanship and his revered precepts which for all time will set an example by which the Ship of State may direct its course."

In this memorial will be the resting place of many priceless relics of the Father of His Country which have been carefully preserved by the Alexandria-Washington Lodge, No. 22, of which Washington was the first Worshipful Master. Located equidistant between the nation's capital and Mount Vernon, the home of Washington, the memorial will become the mecca of many visitors who make pilgrimages to Washington's tomb on the Potomac.

The original trowel used by General Washington on September 18, 1793, in laying the cornerstone of the capitol building of the United States was used again today in the laying of the cornerstone of the memorial. Silver replicas of the trowel were presented to each visiting Grand Master who used them in spreading a small quantity of mortar for the cornerstone.

The ceremonies conformed to the laws of Masonry as in use in Virginia and were under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of Virginia with Charles H. Callahan, deputy grand master of Virginia, in charge as a tribute to his lifelong study of Washington. Col. Lewis A. Scrantom, Penn., president of the George Washington Masonic Memorial Association; William Howard Taft, chief justice of the United States, and James H. Price, grand master of Virginia, assisted.

The ceremonies were preceded by a parade from the old lodge room to the new memorial site in which marched Masons from every state. From its commanding position overlooking the Potomac Valley from Washington to Mount Vernon, the memorial will be a landmark. It will have a setting of 32 acres and be surrounded by artistic landscapes. Broad walks and stone steps ascending through seven terraces will lead to its entrance. The building itself will be 230 feet deep, 160 feet wide and tower upward 200 feet. The main masses of the building will comprise a base in which will be located the great Washington Memorial Hall, and various Masonic rooms where may be perpetuated in imperishable form the memory and achievements of the men whose distinguished services to Freemasonry merit particular and lasting reward. The Memorial Hall will be an imposing atrium, 70 feet wide and 120 feet deep. In it a statue of Washington will be placed. This hall will be 64 feet high, rising by a clerestory above the surrounding portion of the building. It will be flanked by great Ionic columns 40 feet high and surrounded by a number of rooms devoted to Masonic interests above the roof of which will be a clerestory light.

A six-column portico of pure Greek Doric design forming the entrance to the building will be a marked contrast to the plain, unbroken walls of the exterior of the Masonic rooms. Above the massive base will rise a tower-like structure of smaller dimensions. Directly above the Memorial Hall the second story of the tower will form a museum room for the preservation of relics of George Washington and his time, as well as interesting relics connected with Washington's service as Master of the Alexandria-Washington Lodge. There will be a third level of eighty small rooms, the dimensions above the museum room and above that an observation level with structure a little smaller in size from which visitors will be able to view the country from the capitol building at Washington to the Washington homestead at Mount Vernon. Stately colonnades on all four sides of each of these three levels forming the tower-like structure will add to the beauty of the memorial. The architects are Helme & Corbett, New York, with S. Eugene Osgood, Detroit, as consulting architect. Olmsted Brothers, Brookline, Mass., are the landscape architects, with Carl Rust Parker in association.

The memorial is to be the center and rallying point for Masons of the United States and of other countries in addition to being the repository for the many valuable relics of George Washington which have been preserved by the Alexandria-Washington Lodge. One of the most prized possessions of the lodge is the famous Williams portrait of General Washington in Masonic regalia. Another is the clock which was in Washington's bed chamber on the night of his death.

served hereafter is the outgrowth of necessity and was no single individual's idea. Many members of the Masonic order in the earlier days were privileged to see the articles so closely associated with Washington in possession of the Alexandria-Washington lodge, but it was not until 1907 that the public generally was permitted to do so. Since then the number of visitors has increased yearly, gradually growing from 600 to 15,000. As the number of visitors increased, the demand for a fireproof structure in which the Washington heirlooms should be placed became more insistent, until finally the proposed repository was decided upon at Shooter's Hill, the site of the memorial, was selected as it commands a view of the city of Washington, of Mount Vernon, of Alexandria and of all the country most frequented by George Washington.

Laying of the cornerstone of the Memorial marks the close of 170 years since George Washington became a Mason. He entered the order November 4, 1752. The Alexandria Blue Lodge, which was privileged to add Washington's name to the name of the city so that it today is known as Alexandria-Washington Lodge as Alexandria-Washington Lodge No. 22.

After the first regular communication of the first Masonic Lodge in Alexandria on February 25, 1783. It was instituted by the Provincial Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, and was known as No. 39 of that jurisdiction. General Washington was elected an honorary member shortly after his return from the Revolutionary War, and his fondness for the old institution is evidenced by a letter written to the lodge and still in its possession. After the surrender of the Pennsylvania warrant, application for a new charter was made to the Grand Lodge of Virginia and General Washington became first and charter Master of Alexandria Lodge No. 22. He subsequently was elected to succeed himself and served in all about 20 months.

"HIS MASTER'S VOICE"

HOW TO STOP SORE, BLEEDING RECEDING GUMS

Dentists say that a great majority of people either have pyorrhea (Riggs Disease) or pyorrheal tendencies. The beginning is sore, receding or bleeding gums, sensitive or loose teeth, pus pockets and bad odors. Pyorrhea not only affects the gums and teeth, but also your general health, as the pus, which is very poisonous, is absorbed into the system causing serious stomach troubles, the result of which are sometimes fatal. You can now treat pyorrhea at home and get relief with formula known as Creosene, the new discovery that, through penetration, carries a powerful but harmless germicidal, of which creosote (the greatest germ-destroying, tissue-preserving agency known and used by dentists for years) is the base, right to the roots of the teeth, killing the pyorrheal germs, making the gums healthy, tightening up and preserving the teeth, healing pus pockets, relieving pain and destroying odors caused by decayed or abscessed teeth.

Creosene is pleasant to use, and should be used by every one who wears a plate, as it keeps the gums firm and healthy and free from pain. $1.00 at your druggist and your money back if it fails. Creosene Co., Atlanta, Ga.—adv.

Shipbuilding Far Below Tonnage
(By The Associated Press.) LONDON, Nov. 1.—Shipbuilding in Great Britain and Ireland again shows a decrease for the quarter ended September 30, the tonnage under construction being 1,271,195 tons or 67,000 tons less than in the previous quarter, according to Lloyds Register of Shipping.

Merchant tonnage building abroad is given as 1,106,502 tons, of which Germany and Denmark are building 239,353 tons, United States 29,333 tons, France 142,660, Holland 101,491 and Italy 145,123 tons.

The total world tonnage actually under construction was 2,042,900 tons at the end of September which is 1,334,000 tons less than the highest previous record of June, 1919.

There are 28 steamers and motor vessels with a total tonnage of 178,590 tons being constructed for the carrying of oil in bulk. The continued development of internal combustion engines is shown by the fact that 21.4 per cent of the tonnage under construction in the world will be fitted with this system of propulsion.

By The Associated Press. LONDON, Nov. 1.—The plans of the Lloyds Register of Shipping, one of the largest in Mississippi plant and a score of small frame buildings were destroyed by a fire of undetermined origin here early today. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

In addition to the two plans a half dozen small buildings were consumed before the blaze was brought under control at 3 o'clock.

The fire threatened to spread to the Gulf Refining Company's plant, in which stood a large gasoline tank but it was checked before reaching there.

WATSON IS IMPEACHED.
The Oklahoma House of Representatives has impeached Governor Watson. An impeachment is an accusation, something like a grand jury indictment. Watson is charged with corruption as well as unconstitutional acts. It is the Senate which will try these charges. Already it has suspended Watson from office until the trial ends. If acquitted he will be restored; if convicted, permanently removed.

The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment announces a convention to be held in January on "American principles."

Leaders say this gathering is designed to give the dry time to see what they can do toward enforcing Volsteadism, following their recent meeting in Washington.

The estimate is made that the dry program will involve additional congressional expenditures of $20,000,000 for enforcement of the prohibition law.

In addition to what the federal government is spending on the work now and has nothing to do with State costs.

Germany's understanding is favorable to the inquiry, though none too hopeful of its success. Belgium and Italy are friendly to the plan, too. That a settlement is even being talked about is a good thing, but there are too many "jokers" in the proposition to promise well.

(Chaos in Germany.)
The German republic continues to tremble on the verge of breaking up. Separation and sub-separation movements are rife everywhere. Food riots are raging throughout the country.

The central government in Berlin holds on by its eyelids, nothing more.

MORNING STOCK LETTER

Thomson & McKinnon
NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The calamity brigade, each armed with a sledge hammer and a pick axe have been doing their best to undermine confidence and bring on panic. They did. But they did not get the kind of a panic they wanted. And just as sure as living they will get more of the same kind if they don't stop in their efforts to destroy the best thing in the world—a solid, a prosperous, a contented U. S.

Of course this is a free country and we have a free market and anyone who is willing to pay the price may sell stocks or buy stocks just as they please. Some of them will probably go on the theory that what he had was merely a flash and at the first opportunity begin to sell again. Well all I can say is come on, get your experience and pay for it.

Makes Plea for the Nation's Return to Days of Washington

Bishop Freeman Delivers Principal Oration at Cornerstone Laying—Warns Against Influence To Create Hatreds.

(By The Associated Press.)
ALEXANDRIA, Va., Nov. 1.—A plea for the nation's re-dedication to those principles of unselfish devotion to liberty and human brotherhood of which he called Washington the "great exemplar" was voiced by the Right Rev. James B. Freeman, Episcopal bishop of Washington in delivering the principal oration at the laying of the cornerstone today of the George Washington national masonic memorial. The bishop warned against influences which tend to create racial and religious hatreds within the nation and those which would alter the fundamental basis of its relations with other peoples.

"We are met here today," he said, "not so much to think of Washington the patriot the soldier the commander in chief and ultimately the president of the republic, as Washington the high exemplar of those splendid ideals for which this ancient order stands."

"More and more we are realizing today that if our nation is to endure and occupy its just place of prestige and power among the nations of the world, it must stand squarely and without evasion or modification for those pregnant and tremendously important days that marked the genesis and evolution of our form and system of government."

Among influences which have helped shape the destiny of the republic, Bishop Freeman said, none has had more far reaching effect than that resulting from the principles for which "free masonry has ever stood—namely, the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man."

These, he said underlie and secure the "whole fabric of our fraternity." In recalling the greatness of Washington's character, which so highly exemplified these principles of life, the speaker appealed for their "larger expression in this present critical age."

The bishop equally decried that form of individualism today which is "selfishly insular" that it constitutes "a menace to our ideals and institutions" and those "who are their overweening desire to see us promote what they call an international spirit, would have us forget the rock from whence we are hewn and the purposes for which we were born."

"America," he said, would always discharge its just obligations to the world, but it must be permitted to do so in accordance with those judgments and practices that have grown out of our experience as a people."

"Our unique and peculiar situation as a fraternity to the order and peace of the world," the speaker continued, "will be secured only in so far as we exemplify those principles for which we stand. Our methods are not characterized by force, nor do we extend our influence by any intrusive form of propaganda. Within the hallowed precincts of our lodge rooms, where the spirit of a true brotherhood prevails, we observe with respect and reverence our ceremonial, we stand before men in the open light of day unabashed and unashamed, with charity for all and malice towards none."

Couzens Ridicules Ford As President

Says Motor Maker Won't Announce Candidacy For Fear It Will Be Big Fiasco As His Peace Ship.

(By The Associated Press.)
DETROIT, Nov. 1.—Ridiculing the candidacy of Henry Ford for the presidency and questioning the motives of the Detroit manufacturer in his negotiations for Muscle Shoals, United States Senator James Couzens answered a recent criticism by Ford on the senator's announced stand on five per cent. beer in a speech last night at a dinner of the Detroit Republican Club. Two men worked together in the pioneer days of Ford's manufacturing business and until a few years ago were business associates. Although he characterized Mr. Ford as a "kindly, lovable" man and declaring that he "loved him as much as it is possible for one man to love another" the senator, referring to Mr. Ford for president declared, "it is ridiculous. How can a man over sixty who has done nothing except make motors, no has no training or experience in government, aspire to such an office?"

"Ford wants to be president," Senator Couzens said, "his failure to withdraw his name from the Nebraska proves that."

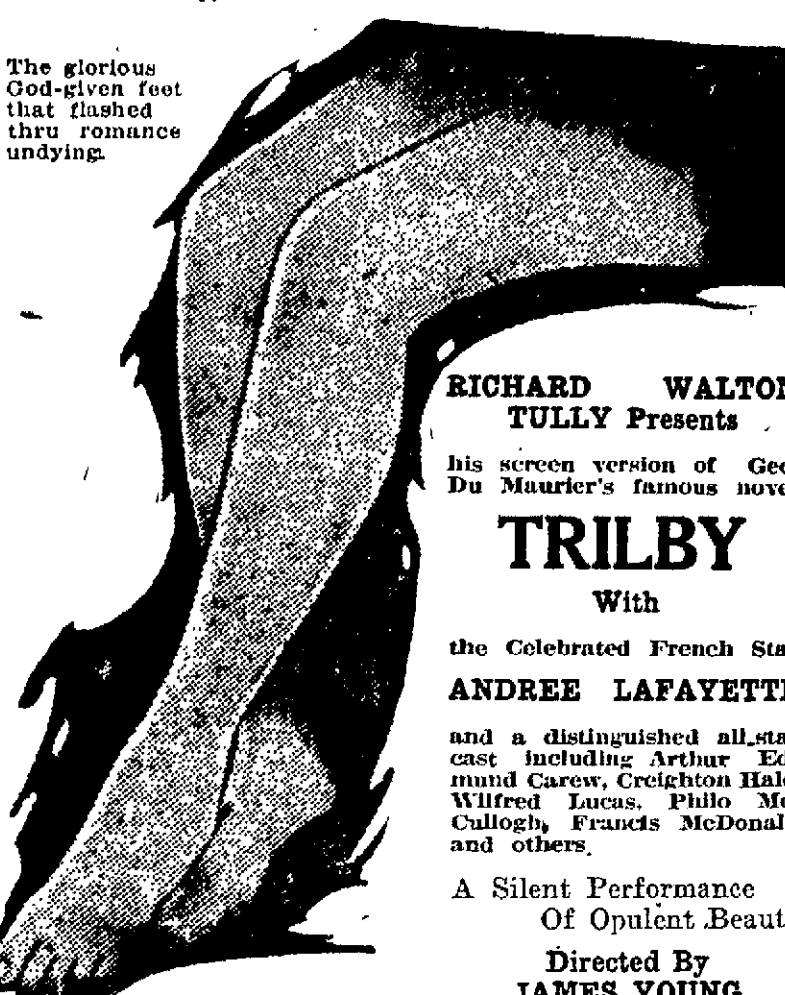

"Why does Henry Ford refrain from announcing his candidacy for president of the United States," the senator asked. "He is afraid it would be as big a fiasco as his peace ship."

Touching on Ford's criticism of the senator's stand on beer tax, he declared that the manufacturer has challenged my integrity and sincerity."

Nanzetta's Prescription

Great System Builder

Listen to the experience of Mrs. Emmie Brandon, 404 Worsham street: "I suffered for four years with an inactive liver; my kidneys did not act normally, my food would not digest. I felt tired all the time; had no energy. I dreaded the next day's work, for I had no appetite to eat, and naturally had no strength. My son got me a bottle of Nanzetta's Remedy and I took it. I have a good appetite and sleep well and can meet the day's toil with a smile. I feel fine. I would advise every person that suffered as I did to try Nanzetta's Prescription. It's a system builder."
